Anaya defends partisan politics

By FRED BUCKLES

SANTA FE---State Democratic Chairman Mike Anaya blasted Republican ex-Gov. David Cargo's comment that "dirty tricks" have been bipartisan many years. Anaya said: "...this careless remark does a gross disservice to both political parties." Mike says: "Actions and attitudes of the Haldeman-Ehrlichman-Segretti types are not representative of the millions of hardworking partisans of both political parties across the country.'

He says: "The national committee of either party would not seriously consider any of the tactics ('White House horrors' as John Mitchell termed them) that Mr. Nixon's staff undertook with such disdain for our system." Anaya adds: "Unfortunately, the White House is making the whole thing very difficult to clean up. An alarming percentage of our citizens will make the mistake of associating both parties with the unsavory crimes perpetrated by a few men.

"Mr. Cargo does not help the profession of politics---still an honorable calling and pastime

Mike noted Cargo's strong criticism of Democratic U.S. Sen. Joseph M. Montoya's service on the Watergate Committee. Yet, Anaya said, Cargo condones President Nixon's position by saying Nixon has not committed a criminal act, Mike said Sen. Montoya has committed no criminal acts.

"I think both parties have a lot of work to do to restore interest in our programs, candidates and general party activity." Mike said he sees positive action by New Mexico Democrats and Republicans. Anaya concluded: "I would urge Mr. Cargo to either take a more positive approach to politics or retire--somewhere." Cargo says he is considering another run for governor in 1974.

Federal courts have ruled states cannot apply undue restrictions on voter residency. But minimum residency requirements that courts will accept have not been determined.

A New Mexico requirement of only 30 days of residency before an election would place a severe burden on officials to complete complex preparations for an election.
